THE ORIGIN OF MAJOR DEEJ!

MAJOR DEEJ UNIVERSE ORIGINS

<http://www.majordeejuniverse.com>

The Major Deej Universe is what it is due to one unique anomaly amidst the millions of parallel universes and divergent timelines: Major Deej. No other timeline or universe has a "Major Deej"...except this one. A time-travelling sect known as the "Order of Chronos" from this universe's 28th Century have discovered that Major Deej is a critical if not sole factor in the prevention of the destruction of all time as they know it.

How does "Major Deej" factor into all of this? How shall a man of humble origins become the focus of saving time as we know it? Read on and discover the origins of time's potential savior...

The Major Deej Universe proudly presents

THE ORIGIN OF MAJOR DEEJ

Brooklyn, New York, circa early 1990s.

"Once you make a decision, the universe conspires to make it happen."

- Ralph Waldo Emerson

CHOICES. Everyone makes them. Like deciding if I wanted curly fries with my burger, or maybe riding my bike here instead of taking the subway. Even choosing to come here and shoot hoops instead of hanging out at Tim's house listening to his parents argue for the millionth time.

CHOICES. Dad says the choices I make every day can make me...or break me. He also says I shouldn't hang out with those kids down the block because they always get into trouble and I don't need that. Instead he wants me to stay home and study.

CHOICES...

Everyone I know who goes home and studies gets beat up at school.

The problem is if I study more, how am I going to get better at basketball if I can't play with the older kids on the corner? I'm the best basketball player in school right now.

I wish Dad would listen to me more about it. Mom doesn't even understand.

Argh. Schoolwork. Homework. I really hate it. It's boring. Basketball is more fun. If I get good enough at it, I could make millions...IF I'm that good...IF I don't get hurt in-season...

Mom's a nurse, Dad's a fireman. They both worked hard to get their jobs. Gotta admit, they're both smart. They made enough for us to go to Disney for an entire week last year.

Choices.

Wait.

I got it.

I got an idea.

I make the basket, I choose basketball for life; if I miss, I get smart and study like Mom and Dad want me to...for life...

This is it.

The rest of my life in this one shot.

Did the ball go in...or not? What cosmic, destiny-altering, fickle future transpired for this 11 year-old boy who lived in Brooklyn, New York? Was it a life of basketball or books?

Interestingly enough, it was both...and neither. You see, that day, young David Jason Yorke, at that moment, across countless other timelines and dimensions, DID make a choice, however the choice he made HERE, in this universe, will have a profound impact on the infinity of time itself.

You're probably thinking, "Sure. Time itself. Riiight...and I'm the Easter Bunny, eh? Well, if my calculations are correct, in a certain timeline...yes; you once dressed as an Easter bunny..."

...but I digress. We're here because of David's unique choice. A choice that allowed him to be athletic, smart and a morally good man, all with a heart of gold and a will of steel; a man who served in the U.S. Army for four tours before returning to his Brooklyn hometown as a policeman.

And thus starts our story. Not in his teen years or young adult life. No. HERE. This is where things begin to change. Shhh. It's time to see history unfold for the man soon to be called "Major DeeJ"...

Ah, well. It's time to finally get this over with, I guess.

I knew this day would come. Four years on the force. I've been treated like a leper since day one in this precinct while others have slithered into Sergeant and Detective ranks.

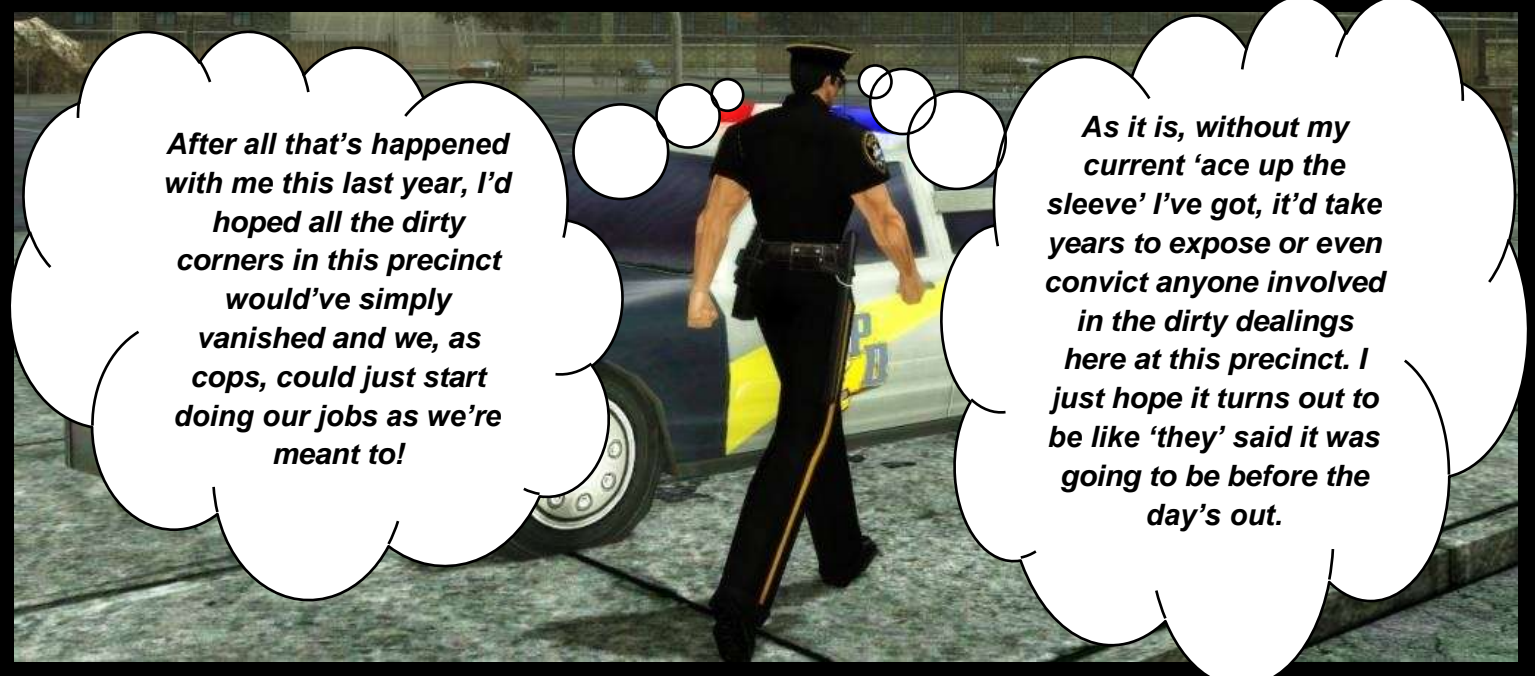

I really liked the idea of being a detective. I've already done over 18 months of time working as one. Even though I aced the tests and exceeded the criteria, I was held back and lied to that I'd failed my exams...by my own Captain, Captain Irons!

What's sad is that I left the military as an Army Captain after the Soltan Empire's Invasion of Earth, and here I am, now, relegated to being a street patrolman.*

I love doing this job, but I know I can use my skills and training to be a far more effective detective instead of being a patrolman!

See about in MDU: Origins #1!
-Historical Dee

After all that's happened with me this last year, I'd hoped all the dirty corners in this precinct would've simply vanished and we, as cops, could just start doing our jobs as we're meant to!

As it is, without my current 'ace up the sleeve' I've got, it'd take years to expose or even convict anyone involved in the dirty dealings here at this precinct. I just hope it turns out to be like 'they' said it was going to be before the day's out.

I just have to get through today and I'll be able to start doing what I've wanted to do since I joined the police force...

...a chance to do right for people.

At the Police Precinct Parking Lot...

RING
RING
RING

Hello? SIS!! Hey, you haven't called in what...a day?

I was beginning to think you lost your phone. Yea, that's me, the comedian.

Yes, I did get the invitation to attend the grand opening of your new condo high rise off of 25th.

You know as well as I do, though, that the job may have other plans for me. I'll do my best to be there.

Look, I gotta get back to work. We still doing dinner at mom and dad's tonight? 6pm?

Yea, tell our little brother he needs to show before dessert this time or he can forget about the free labor he wants from me on one of his cheap house flippings.

Ya, love you too, Sis. Bye.

SIGH. David Yorke, today is going to be...

DO YOU HAVE ANY IDEA WHAT YOU'VE DONE!?! YOU'VE MADE ME LOOK LIKE A @*% IDIOT!!! YOU WENT BEHIND MY BACK AND TOOK THAT DETECTIVE'S TEST!!

I SHOULD JUST TAKE YOU OUT BACK BEHIND THE STATION AND...!!!

Article 23-415 A through D. "In the event of a conflict of interest in authorizing service exams, discretion is authorized by the Police Commissioner to..."

YOU WENT TO...THE POLICE
COMMISSIONER!?!

...approve select individuals to have their exams granted and proctored at a compatible location and/or precinct once a thorough review of the requestors' service record is conducted and acknowledged barring no detriments.

...THE POLICE
COMMISSIONER!?!

Actually, he asked ME personally why I hadn't been promoted yet. When I told him 'our' story, he personally saw to it that not only did I get to retake the exam, but that I was to lead one of his special task forces without you knowing about it.

...WHAT THE #*%@ ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT??

SO...looking at the crumpled paper on the floor, looks like both Gonzales and I passed our exams for Detective. AGAIN. So, how about it, Captain? Can I get you to award me Detective 3rd Class as a going away present before I have IA arrest you?

I.A.!?!...OF ALL
THE UNMITIGATED
AUDACITY...!!

What?? AUDACITY? I didn't want to spoil IA's list-worthy surprise, but you see, Major Crimes ran into me last year and had a lot of questions about you. How's your little cocaine scam doing? Your three prostitutes on the precinct payroll? The 75 'lost' assault rifles from evidence that found their way to the Crimewave Cartel out west? The cemetery 'plots'?

WHEN I'M DONE WITH YOU, YOU'RE GOING TO WISH...

What? To transfer me?? Yep. Here's the papers! Already filled out by the Commissioner. Funny thing too; IA, or Internal Affairs, since we're being formal, has had a record on you that nearly takes up five folders.

As such, your reign of corruption in this precinct is over and I'm here to finish it.

See that man in the loud Hawaiian shirt behind you? Well, He's the IA mole placed in the precinct for the last several months. He's been monitoring you the whole time.

So, with that, since I'm the only ranking officer in this precinct NOT about to be arrested, I'm going to have to ask for your gun and shield.

Thank you.
NOW the man in the loud shirt can arrest you.

With that done, it's time to go on my last day's patrol here at the precinct. I'm sure I'll be seeing you from the witness stand as 'Detective' Sergeant Yorke the next time we meet, 'Captain'.

He's all yours, Everett. Read him his rights.

Okay, Captain Irons, you have the right to...

YOU'RE A DEAD MAN, YORKE!!
A DEAD MAN!! YOU HEAR ME!

DEAD!!!

...right to attorney. If you do not have one...

It's finally done.

*After over a year,
it's finally over.
Now I can get on with actually helping people again.*

THE GAME IS GONE...

...BUT THE STORIES GO ON!

MMOCOMICINDEX.COM
THE NEW HOME FOR THE CITY OF COMIC CREATORS

I hated grandstanding back there, but after all the frustration with this precinct, it actually felt kinda good.

All I know is, wherever I'm transferred to next, it can't be as bad as what I've seen here.

The courts are going to have a hell of a time sorting out the rat's nest of crimes all these dirty cops did.

HEH. NOW the rest of IA shows up! Took them long enough to get here.

I swear...it almost seems like they kept their distance in case the Captain decided to go postal on me...

Anyway...mind on the job. It's time to do my last patrol in this neighborhood.

If word gets out on the street what just happened here, crime's gonna skyrocket real quick.

I need to get out there and let everyone know we're still on the job.

RING

Hello? Hey Mark! Yep. It's done, just like IA said it would go down.

You out patrolling now?

Yah. I'm heading out now to do the same. Hey, you got a minute? I wanted to talk to you one last time before you get to be the new seniority in the precinct.

Yep. I'll meet you at the usual spot. See you in 10.

Yep. Hasta.

So, Dave, I gotta ask...

How many veins popped outta the Captain's neck when you started reading him Article 23-415? Damn, I'd have loved to been there just to see that by itself!

I have to admit, it felt good bringing down his little corrupt empire he'd built up at the precinct.

Mark, I can't thank you enough for what you did. Without your testimony to IA, I'd have sounded like I had a beef with the Captain and nothing would've been done about him at all.

It was the RIGHT thing to do. I'm just sad it took me this long to...

DISPATCH!! This is Officer Chavez! Captain Irons has escaped police custody! Subject escaped the squad car on foot at the Ratson Building; IA is in pursuit...

BLAM!!BLAM!!

It took seven fire crews tens of thousands of gallons of water and four hours of intensive firefighting to finally contain the Ratson Building fire, along with the five additional adjacent buildings lost to the explosion and fire.

All that remained of the buildings were smoldering debris and slagged steel building frames.

All in all, 45 people were reportedly killed in the blast. Nearly all were vaporized due to the extreme heat of the thermobaric weapons. The report cited the loss of 5 firemen, 8 police officers, 30 civilians, Captain Irons...and Officer David Yorke.

Detective 3rd Class David Yorke was pronounced dead on arrival (DOA) at Crowne Memorial Hospital when he arrived by ambulance twenty minutes after the Ralston Building explosion occurred.

His body was taken to the morgue, where it was placed in a cooler for the next 3 hours until his family arrived to identify if it was David's body. They confirmed...it was.

An hour after his grieving family left the hospital's morgue, David awoke in the morgue's cooler, minutes before his official autopsy.

David body wasn't ready to die that today...at least, not yet.

Crowne Memorial Hospital. Five hours after the explosion.

What do you mean 'he's better' now? I was informed Yorke was dead!

Commissioner, I'm only relaying what the doctors said. Yorke arrived DOA...and...

...and...?

...well, according to the doctors over there, "he got better".

BULL! One doesn't get 'better' hours after being dead.

YOU!! DOCTOR!!
What's going on with my man there?!

I'm not a doctor. I'm the hospital administrator and I need you all to leave...

Like Hell! I'm the Police Commissioner, man!
That's one of my best officers over there! Now tell me what the status of Officer Yorke is, NOW!

Commissioner....

SIGH

Look...I wish I could understand what's happening myself, but when my own doctors can't understand what's happening, how am I going to explain it any better?

Well tell me something, man! His family already identified his corpse in the morgue and think he's dead! Now you say he's alive?? What kind of hospital are you running here, man?!

Doctor, you care to tell him?

I've never seen anything like this. 4 hours after being taken to the morgue, he woke up in the cooler...alive.

We then brought him back here, He was incoherent, rambling about...irons...or something. He finally passed out. When we looked him over again, he was definitely alive...and improving. The trauma he came in with...no one could have survived that...but... somehow...he...got better.

His chest wounds were healing. His hands mended.

He came off the ventilator 15 minutes ago. The burnt portions of his uniform are being pushed out of his wounds, and his skin and organs are regenerating right before our eyes.

So what are you saying, man? Will he fully recover at this rate??

What I'm saying is that this man arrived here as a dead man; dead from severe, traumatic wounds...

...and what we see before us, now, is a resurrected man with healing abilities unlike anything I've ever seen before.

By all accounts, this man is more than human. I believe your Officer Yorke here is actually...

SUPER-HUMAN.

Next Issue:

Will our 'super-human' Officer Yorke be good enough be able to start his new Detective job at his new precinct on Monday or will other people start to claim Yorke for 'other' needs? How does the Reston Building explosion fit into all this and what does it have to do with Captain Irons? How about the bigger question...DID Dee's basketball actually go in?? Part II: SOON!!

MAJOR DEEJ UNIVERSE

ORIGINS

MDU "ORIGIN"AL COMMENTS

Major DeeJ. He was my first character I made when, back in December 2006, I started playing the Massive-Multiplayer Online Role Playing Game (MMORPG) "City of Heroes". I had no idea what I was doing with the game. My two boys mentioned that it might be a game I'd like to play, since I was a bit of a superhero buff. It was a Christmas present from my boys, I was surprised that it cost $15 dollars a month to have a subscription to in order to play though. Who would DARE charge such a rate for a simple game? Highway robbery! No way could this game be good enough to drain me of 15 dollars from my thin family budget every month! As it was, the game came with a free first month, so I decided to give it a whirl. I didn't want to recreate (in this game) any of the characters I'd previously created in my youth, since I didn't think the game was worthy enough. My first day, in the game's character creator, I came up with a brand new superhero I'd never used before. After creating what I thought was a pretty cool costume, I named him "Major DeeJ" and entered the game for the first time. I was spellbound. Never had I experienced so wondrous and engaging of a game as this one. Within days, it quickly became my most favorite game of all time, as did my character, Major DeeJ.

Today, the game is long gone, but Major DeeJ, the character, continues on to this day! Part II coming soon!!
